◆Message from Kazuto Oikawa, the general secretary of Minami-Sanriku Town Tourism Association◆

The Minami-Sanriku Town is a port town in northeastern Miyagi Prefecture with a population of about 11,000 people, where aquaculture is the main industry.

It was devastated by the 2011 Great East Japan Earthquake and tsunami, but thanks to support from all over Japan and the world, it has been able to recover.

During the recovery process, we have been working toward the realization of a sustainable society with the motto of "A Town Where Life Circulates."

Minami-Sanriku Town offers programs with the theme of "Learning in the fun, the future in the experience, conveying the threats, blessings, and wonders of nature, and nurturing the ability to live with nature."

Let's have a wonderful time together to get some hints for thinking about the future for all.
